Tiny House Program Highlights

- 4 new villages,
  - TEMS 1, which later moved, doubled in size and became:
  - TEMS 2
  - T. C. Spirit Village
  - Village at 6th & Orchard
- 1 expanded village: Lake Union Village (LUV) more than doubled in size
- 177 new tiny houses
- 12 villages total
  - 8 Seattle
  - 2 Tacoma
  - 2 Olympia
- Villages in pipeline:
  - Skyway
  - Puyallup tribal land (Tacoma)
  - Bellingham
  - 3 in Seattle (awaiting approval from City Council)
T. C. Spirit Village
612 22nd Ave, Seattle, WA 98122
Opened April

- 28 tiny houses for African American, Native American, and Alaskan Native men and women experiencing homelessness
- Land leased from The Christ Spirit Church (Pastor Willie Seals and Carolyn Riley-Payne [right top] signing agreement with LIHI)
- Referrals from the church, Seattle Indian Center, Urban League, Chief Seattle Club, and the Navigation Team
- With the support of staff and volunteers, Spirit Village was set up in record time: four weeks! First new resident Lola (right bottom) told reporters that moving into a tiny house felt like a dream come true, “I think I actually sleep with a smile on my face here”
Lake Union Village Expansion
800 Aloha St. Seattle, WA 98109

- 22 additional tiny houses added in April to existing village for a total of 44 tiny houses
- LUV is operated on a Housing First harm reduction model
- Incredible volunteers dedicated countless hours of time to expanding Lake Union Village so new residents like Jeffrey and Anne (near right) could have a safe and stable space to sleep.
Tacoma Village Moved
and more than doubled in size
TEMS 2: 623 E 60th St, Tacoma

- TEMS 1 moved to make way for affordable housing development
- 28 additional tiny houses were added during July move to bring total to 50 at TEMS 2.
- Tiny houses were built and donated by community partners, including Woodcrafters Construction, Sound Foundations NW, RDF Builders, Sawhorse Revolution, and Carriage Houses NW
Village at 6th and Orchard (Tacoma)

Opened December

- First residents have moved in
- 40 Tiny Houses will house up to 60 residents
Tiny House Warehouse & Workshop

Tiny House construction was made a lot more efficient this year with the addition of a warehouse in SoDo! We can now build houses and work on infrastructure remotely before the sites are ready. Inside space also allows for year-round work parties.

We share this space with Sound Foundations NW, an amazing construction partner that has built over 60 tiny homes for LIHI!
Urban Rest Stops

The Urban Rest Stops have shined during the pandemic, providing crucial health services without interruption. Alas, the U-District location closed at the end of the year due to the end of ROOTS lease. We hope to find a new location soon.
Volunteer Programs

Although many programs were temporarily suspended this year due to covid, our volunteers in construction really stepped up to the plate with the setup of our new villages, working over 10,000 hours collectively to expand our program!

Our volunteers work on everything from building the tiny houses themselves to building porches, planter boxes, the kitchen, community room, and laundry room!
Advocacy

LIHI staff, board members and supporters testified by the score at city council meetings, both in person and virtually, advocating for housing, shelter, services and racial and economic justice.
In the wake of George Floyd’s murder, LIHI joined Black pastors of churches in the Central Area in calling for housing justice, 1,000 new affordable homes, in the Central Area where Black residents have been steadily displaced by gentrification. The Black population of the Central Area is now less than 7%, the lowest it’s been since the 60's.
Other Highlights

- LIHI staff participated in roundtable discussions about best practices for racial justice in our housing and workplaces.
- Sharon had articles on tiny houses published in Shelterforce and Puget Sound Business Journal.
- Sharon joined the board of NCRC
- Sharon continued to serve on the Enterprise New Markets Tax Credit Advisory Board and NeighborWorks Real Estate Advisory Committee.
